

REAR ADMIRALS TO VIEW GOLF LINKS

Naval Officers' Organization Includes Only Older Members of Retired List.

Which of the retired rear admirals is the best golfer? This is the question being asked today in naval circles.

The date for the annual tournament of the Admirals' Golf Association, at the Chevy Chase Club, has been set for May 7. What! You have never heard of the association? Is every member a real admiral?

Certainly. And being a rear admiral alone doesn't make one eligible for membership. Rear admirals of the "kitten" variety, those "youngsters" of sixty-two and sixty-four, will find it hard to be elected to membership.

First of the qualifications for membership in the organization is that the applicant was graduated from the United States Naval Academy prior to September, 1870. Col. Robert M. Thompson, the Washington millionaire clubman, who has started so many things for naval officers, has charge of the tournament. He has offered a cup to the winner of the affair.

Rear Admiral Thomas O. Selfridge, seventy-seven years of age, will be main senior member of the association and will be backed heavily to win the tournament. Rear Admiral Unshur, now in his nineteenth year, decides to enter. Rear Admiral N. E. Mason, "the youngster" of the association, Rear Admiral Joseph N. Hemphill, Rear Admiral Adams and numerous others who can boast of having graduated more than forty years ago, will also be out. It will be a battle to the death of one of Washington's unique and most exclusive organizations.

A VERY TIMELY SPECIAL SALE:

Women's Evening and Dancing Dresses, $16.95.

About One-third Less Than Regularly.

Not only is this sale very timely, because of the prominence of dancing, but because of the many occasions requiring a simple but effective dress of this kind.

Of the values there is not much need of speaking—they are a surprise even to us. They come from the maker with whom we have arranged our several previous sales in dresses of this kind.

There can be no doubt as to the attractiveness and fashion correctness of the dresses—they are undeniably pretty, and of the silks that will again be worn with much charm this spring.

Taffeta and charmeuse form the body of the gowns, with bodices of dainty shadow laces artfully combined with silk and further beautified by coney fur.

Double flounces of plain or Dresden silk are fur trimmed to correspond with the bodice. The shades are pink, blue, lavender, black, white, and the new tango, which blend with the lower part of the skirt and thereby complete a most attractive garment. Also dresses of crepe meteor, with gold brocaded chiffon tunic, edged with black or white lace and coney fur.

Adapted alike for the afternoon tea or the evening dansant. They regularly sell at $25.00, Special, $16.95

Everybody's Shoe Store

Corner 7th and D Streets, Northwest

Washington, D. C., January 24th, 1914.

MR. GARDNER F. JOHNSON,

The Washington Times, City:

Dear Mr. Johnson:

It will undoubtedly interest you to know that the "Smoke and Water Damage Sale" recently held at this store enabled us to dispose of every bit of the tremendous stock we had on hand at the time of the conflagration in this section.

This sale advertising appeared exclusively in the columns of your paper, as has been our custom since the opening of Everybody's Shoe Store, and we believe that if you could communicate with everyone of your readers who attended this sale they would tell you that they received the greatest shoe values ever obtained for the money.

The clearance of this damaged stock has made room for incoming manufacturer's stocks of the very latest models, which we are now ready to offer to the Washington public at the usual Everybody's sacrifice prices, something we would not have been able to accomplish so early in the season had it not been for the excellent service rendered by your paper.

Yours very truly,

Samuel B. Trewolla
